

Services

As a full-time, licensed real estate agent, I offer a full range of services for people both buying and selling their homes. I will work within your price range and with your specifications to find the best home for you and your family.

What I Offer:

Clinching the deal. Showing houses is just part of the process. When I represent you at the negotiating table I make sure you BUY or SELL your home, with the best possible outcome.

Finding YOUR home. Once I show you a few houses and ask the right questions, I develop a profile of what you're looking for and all the details that matter to you. Then I go out looking for the right home (saving you a lot of time and frustration). And I find it!

Full service, full time. This is very important. Part-time agents mean part-time service.

The most reputable network of professionals. A lawyer can make or break the deal. A mortgage broker can add hidden costs and extra points, and you can end up with a mortgage you can't pay. I only work with professionals with impeccable reputations, so you can relax and know that everyone on your team is working in your best interests.

Unbeatable expertise. I provide the most up-to-date and well-researched information on what's happening in the real estate market as well as the latest regulations that might impact your situation.

Full access to the multiple listing services. No more waiting for agents to send you listings they think you'll like. You can search for houses whenever it's convenient for you.

Technology. Can mean the difference between closing the deal and just missing out. I recently finished a Technology 2004 class to make sure I continue to provide leading edge service.

Environmental safety. Radon, underground oil tanks, mold, water, high tension wires: I take all the latest courses to make sure you know about any possible danger before it's too late.

McCaffrey Realty Professionals

A full service agency. As a part of McCaffrey Real Estate Professionals, I offer my clients the outstanding service and personal integrity of owner/broker Linda McCaffrey. With over 20 years experience in the industry, Linda provides invaluable expertise on every transaction.

On-the-spot service. This means you don't have to wait while requests get sent to corporate headquarters, like you would with the big agencies.

Your real estate family. Every agent in our office will be familiar with you and your situation. At McCaffrey, you'll never be just another name.
